DISARMAMENT PLANS; VICE VERSA PROGRAM

Within a very few weeks, representatives of the larger nations are going to assemble in Washington for the purpose of trying to reduce operating expenses by discontinuing the construction of navy units and, at the same time, endeavor to establish lines of common endeavor for the reduction of standing armies.

In this discussion, as we understand it, the matter of war prevention is to take care of itself in the elimination of navies and standing armies, or the partial elimination of each division of the national defenses.

Every taxpayer is interested in the forthcoming conference in its element of reduction of taxation, but the war sufferers are interested in it from another and more important angle. Peoples of the nations have had an expensive and ghastly lesson in the matter of wars. Hardly a family in Europe is without its mourning band, and there are thousands of families in America who have heavy hearts and bitter memories.

The great men who are going to sit at the conference table are taxed with the burden of doing the impossible. Diplomats have never before been called upon to discuss with other nations than their own, the matter of protecting the lives and resources of their peoples through the avenue of peaceful persuasion in cutting costs of government operation.

When we realize that 75 cents of every dollar the taxpayers of the United States pay to the Government goes to pay for past and future wars, as well as the pensions and care of veterans of wars, we realize that we are not far out of the woods in the matter of human efficiency and economic government operation.

We are a very progressive nation. We are beginning to use our brains as headquarters for our thinking, and before long, we will be operating our government, and other nations will be operating their governments the same as we operate our private businesses.

It is, of course, unusual for a government to cut expenses, for the King has always had three or four subjects at his heels, one to take off his gloves, another to wipe the dust from his boots, another to take his monocle and another to take his cane.

The United States, the most democratic government in the world, still has its monocle bearers, not actually but in other activities. Every head of a department in Washington has eight or ten sub-heads and each sub-head has a private secretary or two. Happily, President Harding has secured Major Dawes to help him head some of the drones in the government service, and, in another year, the United States will be starting out on a well-balanced flier in economic government operation.

The disarmament plans contemplate reduction of government costs and the discussions will undoubtedly be barren of sentiment. The uselessness of wars will not enter into the discussion, but even so, when a man can buy no powder and shot, he is apt to find another way to handle what seems to be a situation that needs harsh treatment.

We can hope that in discussing cost of operation, the great men at the disarmament conference will give a thought to the cost in human lives in the World War. It is a question as to whether government expenses are more important than human lives. So far as we are concerned, we are not particular which way the conference takes the bull by the horns so long as they get the bull in the pen.

After the matter of disarming nations to the minimum has been settled, we hope the government of the United States will turn its attention to the limitation of the manufacture of revolvers, the means of filling almost as many graves as John Barleycorn could fill during the height of his popularity.

Marshal Foch, who did not receive a scratch in the World War, fears the American banquets he will have to attend when he comes over here. The wise Marshal probably knows how many American graves are filled with knife-and-fork soldiers.

Al Semnacher Reveals To L. A. District Attorney Arbuckle's Admission

Confessed to Friends That He Caused the Injuries That Killed Miss Rappe

GRAND JURY IS CALLED

Victim's Manager to Repeat
Story of Arbuckle Under Oath When Examined

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—

Roscoe Arbuckle admitted that he inflicted the injuries that resulted in the death of Virginia Rappe. This statement was made in the presence of Fred Fischbach, who accompanied Arbuckle to San Francisco, also Lowell Sherman, actor, who was a guest at the Arbuckle party, and Harry McCullough, Arbuckle's chauffeur.

Al Semnacher, manager of Virginia Rappe, made this statement to Acting District Attorney William C. Doran of Los Angeles today, and a special meeting of the Los Angeles county grand jury was called this afternoon to hear Semnacher's testimony under oath, and Semnacher's statement was telephoned to District Attorney Brady at San Francisco immediately.

MILLIONAIRE ALIEN LAND OWNER NOW FACES EXILE

Lost in Exciting Race to United States

(By International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—B. J. Higgins, multi-millionaire, and his wife, face deportation to Australia as a result of their being aboard the steamer Marama instead of the Sonoma. In a race from the land of the Antipodes, the Sonoma won. Only a limited number of Australians could enter the United States under the provisions of the immigration law.

Those on the Sonoma filled the quota. Higgins, who has large holdings near Los Angeles, has lived for many years in the United States and intends to make his future home here. He will fight to the highest courts to secure admittance and has already notified his brother, P. J. Higgins of Los Angeles, to come to his aid.

PRIEST IS ENGAGED TO DESIGN FOUNT

Alfred F. Priest, Glendale architect, has been commissioned to design a new front for the store at 121 North Brand boulevard that will, in a short time, be occupied by Arthur Dibern who will open a jewelry store. Mr. Priest announces that in addition to a new marble front and tiled vestibule the store will be redecorated inside and new window trims installed. Mr. Dibern plans to hold his formal opening at the new store October 1.

Mr. Priest has also furnished the design for the new Berman block on South Brand. Marble will also be used in the decorating of the front of the building. French gray in antique styles will be used in the show windows.

The block to be erected at the northwest corner of Louise and Broadway was also designed by Mr. Priest, and will be a one-story pressed brick structure containing three store rooms with snow windows of plate glass and marble.

C. OF C. AFFILIATES WITH THE VALLEY ORGANIZATION

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday decided to affiliate with the Associated Chambers of Commerce of this valley, which organization has just reduced its annual membership dues from $15 and 10 cents per member per year, to a flat rate of $10 per year for each organization.

A resolution was received from the San Diego Chamber of Commerce which, upon being read, was laid over for one week for further discussion.

A resolution complimenting the Glendale City Council on its work of opening the various blind streets of Glendale, and assuring the Council of the Chamber's support in this matter, was accepted.

A representative of the Pacific Coast Tire and Manufacturing Co. was present and asked the support of the Chamber in the tire establishment which that company proposes to start in Glendale. After lengthy discussion, this matter was referred to the industrial committee.

COUNCIL AND BOARD OF EDUCATION DEADLOCK

Agree That It Is Unfair to Assess Generally for Paving in Front of School Property—City Attorney Instructed to Find Legal Outlet in the Dilemma

The Board of Education last night conferred with members of the City Council relative to paying for the street improvement adjacent to school property.

Both boards agreed it was not fair to assess the expense against other property owners in the district, but there was a difference of opinion as to whether it should be handled by the City Council or by the Board of Education. Each felt that the other should be responsible.

The argument of the Board of Education was that school moneys are raised for educational purposes and not for street improvement.

Members of the City Council took the ground that under the law, street improvements must be made by the property owners and under the law, the Board of Education is the property owner.

No decision was reached. The Council instructed the city attorney to look into the matter and furnish all possible information as to the legal status of the proposition and how it could be handled and financed by the Board of Education if it felt under obligation to take care of it. The Board of Education deferred action until such information should be forthcoming.

Of the other business transacted by the Board of Education at its regular session last night at the Intermediate school, the chief was the opening of bids for heating the three portable bungalows which the Board has ordered. One of the bids was from the Cotter-Strutz Radiator Corporation, which furnished the gas radiators for the Broadway school and the Intermediate addition. This company's bid for the three units necessary to heat the three buildings complete was $378.

The Williams Radiator Co. also made a bid for a different type, a non-vented gas steam radiator, three units for $324.75. This company claims that a ten-section radiator 38 inches high will heat one room 24 by 30 feet. Other bids were based on two radiators to each room of 12 sections each and 27 inches high.

The Board felt that it did not know enough about the Williams type of radiator to act intelligently and Trustee Black and Superintendent White were instructed to investigate and report.

Superintendent White was instructed to get bids on fire hose for the Cerritos avenue school and to install it. He was also instructed to have the attendance officer look up the children attending school at Cerritos avenue who might live near enough to the Ivanhoe school to be transferred to it.

Superintendent White was likewise instructed to secure bids for seats and other furniture needed for the three bungalows.

CARNATION LODGE EXTRA! STUDENTS CELEBRATES 70TH ANNIVERSARY FIND REAL CASH IN TREASURY

At its meeting last night, Carnation lodge celebrated the seventieth anniversary of the organization of Daughters of Rebecca.

Mrs. Rosella Strothers, Noble Grand, presided, and in the course of the evening a very handsome Past Noble Grand pin was presented to Mrs. L. G. Scovren, who has just retired as noble grand.

Two candidates for membership were favorably balloted upon, viz: J. E. Mayott and Mrs. E. Lindsey. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, who are newcomers in Glendale, were admitted by transfer. Five new applications for membership were received.

About 75 were present and following a social evening enlivened by phonograph music furnished by the Glendale Music Company, refreshments were served. Besides the regular membership, several visiting Rebecas from abroad were present. An initiation will take place two weeks hence.

P. E. O. RECIPROCITY BUREAU HAS MEETING

At the meeting of the P. E. O. Reciprocity Bureau held yesterday with Mrs. Verne Putman, 208 West Elk, plans were made for a reciprocity luncheon to be given October 19 at the Congregational church, where the ladies of that church will furnish the luncheon.

A benefit for the educational fund of the four chapters of Glendale.

At the regular weekly meeting of the cabinet of the Glendale high school student body the committee on the student body ticket submitted its report and the cabinet voted to make the price $1.50 this year, the same as last. This will admit to all student activities and regular assemblies.

L. C. Baker submitted his report as auditor and explained the budget system.

Last year the cabinet appropriated $150 for the building of a fence around the school grounds, but when the fence was built this year the high school trustees refused to take the money. The $150 will, therefore, be used as a fund to be drawn upon for the upkeep of the athletic field.

Paul Hutchinson, president of the student body, presided and the minutes were taken by Miss Dorothy Peart, the secretary.

At the reciprocity luncheon on October 19 Chapter U. of Burbank, will be invited to participate with the four chapters of Glendale.

Family Ghastly Murdered By Mysterious Cave Man Armed With Nailed Club

Bloodstained Club and Finger
Prints Are Only Clues

CHILD MAY RECOVER

Heads of All Victims Battered in by Assailant in Dastardly Night Attack

DOWAGIAC, Mich., Sept. 21.—A bloodstained club, matted with hair and from which bent fingernails protruded, and a single bloody fingerprint constitute the clues upon which authorities are working today in an effort to solve the mysterious murder of Wm. Monroe, 45, his wife, Mary, 42, and their daughter, Neva, 17. The bodies of the three were found at their home in the outskirts of the city yesterday.

Little 12-year-old Ardith Monroe, also badly beaten about the head and in a partial stupor, was alive when the bodies of the other members of the family were found.

Ardith Monroe regained consciousness this morning, but could give no clue as to how the slayings had been accomplished. Police made every possible effort to obtain a statement from her, but it was evident that the attack occurred in the dark and that the child was truck down before she knew what was occurring. The girl is still in a critical condition.

It is believed that the three members of the Monroe family were murdered Saturday night and that the girl, Ardith, lay for two days in the same bed with her sister's body and in the same room with her dead parents. Ardith's face was crushed by a blow from the slayer's club.

The heads of all three victims had been beaten almost beyond recognition. There were no signs of a struggle. The slayer presumably gained entrance by stealth and struck down his victims one by one. They apparently were not awakened. There was no indication of robbery.

Standing against a wall, where the murderer had placed it when he finished his bloody orgy, was the club. A fingerprint, stamped in blood, was found on the wall near where the club had been placed.

Early today, Dr. George F. Inch, assistant superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Kalamazoo, said that two inmates, Louis Bergman of Coloma, Mich., and James Morrow, had escaped from the asylum about a week ago.

Dr. Inch said, however, that he did not believe either of them would commit murder.

The murder was discovered when Grace McKee, eight-year-old playmate of Ardith Monroe, went to the Monroe home to learn why Ardith had not been to see her for several days. Finding the door unlocked, she entered and saw Ardith lying on the floor, moaning and culling "Mamma, mamma!" The little girl fled screaming from the house.

Ralph Gillette, who is married to the McKee girl's older sister, came in answer to her screams and summoned the police.

The club was a two-by-four, about three feet long. The marks of its nails showed on the heads and faces of the victims.

TIMELY TOPICS FROM STATE CAPITAL KENT GETS ORDER FOR NEW HOTEL SPECIFICATIONS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—The fall report of the State Fish and Game Commission states that 25,000,000 trout fry have been planted in California streams and lakes since the first of the year. This is the largest number ever distributed in one year in the history of the state.

Announcement was recently made by Will C. Wood, director of the State department of Education, that thirty California clergymen have abandoned the pulpit this year to accept teaching positions in the public schools. The clerics, for the most part, explained their action by stating that their salaries as preachers of the Gospel were not sufficient so that they could properly care for their children and educate them.

Wood also announced that hundreds of former teachers who entered into business when salaries were high during the war, are now returning to the teaching profession.

Although there has been a general supposition that food prices were on the down grade, State Purchasing Agent W. G. McMillin has just reported to Governor Stephens that the price of foodstuffs has increased more than 5 per cent in the past three months. The sharpest increase is noted in the potato market, this staple food product having jumped from 50 cents to $1 per hundred pounds.

Wage increases ranging from $5 to $60 per month have been granted employees of the State Board of Control. Most of the employees of this department are trained accountants and it was stated that their services could not be retained unless their wages were increased.

Despite the fact that some 3,000 Eastern teachers have applied for positions in California this year, there are scores of schools in rural districts that are closed for want of teachers, according to the State Department of Education. The majority of the teachers refuse to go into the mountainous districts and consequently there are thousands of idle teachers in the State at the same time that hundreds of children are going without educational advantages for want of teachers.

The State Veterans' Welfare Board will distribute applications for school aid to veterans on October 8, and immediately thereafter will examine and pass upon applicants.

CALLES ENROUTE TO MAYOS

AIR CHIEF APPOINTED
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—President Harding today named Col. Mason N. Patrick, corps of engineers, to be chief of the United States army air service, succeeding Major General Charles T. Mencher, resigned.

Preparing to start work as soon as possible on the new hotel, the Ambrosini Hotel company today awarded the contract to draft the plans and specifications for the proposed six-story hotel at Glendale and Broadway to the Roy L. Kent Co., 130 South Brand boulevard.

Work on the plans and specifications for the new hotel are to be rushed as it is the desire of the company to start the work of erecting the building within the next few weeks.

The new hotel will have a frontage on Glendale avenue of 225 feet and 235 feet on Broadway. It will be six stories high with 305 guest rooms. On the lower floor of the building there will be space for 13 store rooms in addition to the hotel office and lobby. On the second floor there will be fifty guest rooms and a large dining room. The Ambrosini Hotel Co. is incorporated for $500,000. This entire amount will be used in the actual construction of the building and the furnishings for the hotel are expected to cost several thousand dollars in addition.

An attempt will be made to have at least two floors of the hotel ready for guests by January in order to care for the winter tourists from the east. Two floors will be completed at once and furnished for occupancy and as fast as other floors are completed will be prepared for guests. The actual starting of the work on this hotel will be the realization of a dream that buoyed the hopes of residents of the city for the past five years, since the time that Anthony Ambrosini promised the people of Glendale that some day he would build a first class hotel here.

If the match were made in heaven, would the husband still go out at night?

DAMAGED

MOVIE STARS THINK THEY WILL CHARGE FOR PHOTOS NOW

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—The axe of economy experts, which has been busy in all of the great motion picture studios here, has now fallen on "movie" fans scattered throughout the world.

The experts have figured out that a saving of from $850,000 to a cool million dollars can be effected for the studios and popular players if the fans are made to pay for photographs of stars.

It was learned that a movement to charge for photographs and donate the money, over the actual cost of making the pictures, to some needy cause had been very successfully tried out by Mary Pickford and a Hollywood photographer.

Many other film celebrities have endorsed the plan and are now co-operating.

Miss Pickford has been turning over the money received from the sale of her photographs to a Good Cheer fund for needy children, while other stars are swelling the coffers of a fund for aged mothers from the sale of their pictures. It is predicted by the managements of the leading studios that it is only a matter of time until all of the stars will enter into the new charitable picture distribution plan.

So next time you send for a free photograph of your favorite picture star don't be surprised if in return you receive a card which reads about as follows:

"Your letter asking for one of my pictures has just been handed to the committee selling my photographs for the benefit of the Aged Mothers' Fund. There are numberless mothers who have sacrificed all their lives for their children and who find, as the and draws near, they have been too liberal with others at their own expense."

For some time a careful checking of the requests for photographs made from all parts of the world to stars and studios has shown in most instances the persons making the requests were attempting to make collections which would include all the leading players. Some of the persons writing have their appeals down to such a business-like basis their letters are printed, the name of the player or studio being merely written in.

At many of the plants it has been customary for the stars to turn their letters over to studio attaches, and the pictures would be sent out at the expense of the studio managements, where stars have been under contracts to a single producing organization.

The first day that Wallace Reid adopted the new plan three barrels filled with letters which had been sent to Reid were brought to his manager's office. Most of these letters made requests for photographs.

"I have spent a lot of time in answering mail from 'fans' for a number of years," said Reid to the correspondent.

"I have put in many an afternoon trying to add a little sunshine to some lonely life by a little message of cheer. I have written these replies to 'fans' at times when I should have been out on golf links or in the sunshine recuperating from my long hours."

"I have, in common with other widely-known players, come to the conclusion it is an injustice on the part of the public to expect studios or stars to pay out large sums annually to supply photographs free. Those who really want them will be glad to pay a small sum for the pictures if they know the excess above actual cost will go to a worthy charity."

MAID FROM MADRID IS SEEKING HUSBAND

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan is hunting for "an ideal husband" for Carmen Cardove, who says she is a pretty Spanish woman of 34 years. "I am Spanish and called good looking," she writes from Minneapolis. "And although I weigh 170 pounds, I am of fine build." The Spanish matron further asserts that "I am from one of the best and oldest families of Madrid."

Any one who believes he can measure up to the Spanish woman's requirements is requested to write Secretary Jordan at once, as many prospects are already in communication with him.

Marriage always is a serious affair, and a good many moderns are making it a series affair.

LOST STATUTE FOUND TO BE MODERN BRAND

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—Whether or not an act that was passed back in local option days to curb "blind pigging" may be enforced now under National Prohibition is a question that is worrying members of the State Legislative council bureau, as a result of the finding of a "lost statute" providing for the closing and abatement of places in which liquor is sold, served or given away illegally.

The act is virtually a companion law to the Redlight Abatement Act. As a result of the announcement by the legislative bureau that in their opinion the "lost" statute can still be enforced to break up the "bootlegging" ring, three counties have already taken action against certain houses under it.

Members of the Legislative Bureau point out that the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco could be closed under the statute in question if it was proven that the "Fatty" Arbuckle booze party was carried on with the knowledge of the management.

The summary of the act, which is Assembly Bill No. 22, enacted in 1915, follows:

"An act declaring all buildings and places nuisances, wherein or upon which any spirituous, vinous, malt or other alcoholic liquor is unlawfully sold, served or given away, or which are used for the purpose of unlawfully selling, serving or giving away such liquors, and providing for the abatement of such nuisances."

HEALTH IS SUBJECT OF MRS. PECKHAM AT CIRCLE MEET

The Mutual Benefit Reading Circle met this afternoon at the public library. A very interesting paper was read by Mrs. C. L. Peckham. In part it follows:

"Keeping straight with yourself, keeping your body in correct posture and your health good and you will do good work."

"Is your dressmaker able to hang your dress the same length on both sides?"

"Is your posture correct? Do you stand, walk and sit straight? A majority of people are out of proportion."

"Symmetry of hips and shoulders is rare. Children five years of age have perfect bodies as a rule, unless they are crippled, but the carrying of school books on one arm or sitting in school humped over, or women working in the kitchen who do not have a comfortable chair to sit on while washing dishes, or do not stand correctly while sweeping the floor, or stop over to pull out a drawer instead of bending the hips and knees, or who do not rest the spinal column against the back of a chair while sewing, tend to make one's body uneven."

Some people think golf is healthy exercise. It is, and so is housework. Do you know of a physician who would tell you it was not good exercise to do housework if you do it correctly? If you stand, sit and sweep correctly you will not be fatigued."

Be sure your kitchen sink is the right height, and that your shoes are comfortable. If you suffer from backache when you take off your corset, it shows that the muscles which support you are flabby and inactive."

"A corset should be for the purpose of holding your stockings up and be a support for the pelvis. It should never cramp the vital organs."

"There are twenty million school children in this country, 20 per cent of whom are suffering from malnutrition. There is a true relation between malnutrition and posture."

"The children who are not properly nourished are under weight, pale and tired looking, with hollow chests, large abdomens and protruding shoulder blades. As a result of these observations, they are correcting the defects by posture and malnutrition classes. These facts are taken from the American Posture League, No. 1, Madison Square, S. & St. Louis, N. Y. This national health organization can give correct information on incorrect posture."

BATTLEFIELDS WERE LABORATORIES SAYS SURGEON

Portland, Ore., Sept. 21.—Terrible as the World War was, it was not without vast benefits, according to Dr. Franklin H. Martin, secretary-general of the American College of Surgeons, who attended the congress of the Oregon section of the college here.

One of those benefits, he said, was the advancement of surgery.

"Surgery learned some valuable lessons in the war," Dr. Martin asserted. "The battlefields furnished a great laboratory, in which new and important secrets of the human body were learned."

"Ten years ago no surgeon dared to operate on the lungs except in a pneumatic cabinet, with all the air pressure so adjusted that it balanced that of the lungs. The war taught us that this was unnecessary and lung operations are performed every day now in standard operating rooms with absolute safety."

"We learned that a man could lose one-third of a lung and still recover. We learned that the removal of brain tissue itself could be made in many cases. Our whole technique of operating was vastly improved. In fact, through these discoveries, it would not be going much too far to say that the war, through the surgical lessons it taught, will save almost as many lives in the long run as it cost."

Dr. Martin stated that as a result of their work during the war American surgeons are now recognized as the best in the world.

CUPID'S CORRIDOR IN DENVER, COLO.

(By International News Service)

DENVER, Sept. 20.—Cupid, always lurking around the corridors of Denver's county court, made a double killing here when two couples from Nebraska started on a sight-seeing trip through the building, which they mistook for the State Capitol.

The newlyweds are Ernest Young and Oia Largent Young and Eddie Olmstead and Ella Ely Olmstead, all of Guide Rock, Nebraska.

While searching through the court house for the State museum exhibit, not knowing that they had missed the State Capitol by several blocks, the party noticed the marriage license sign swinging on the door of the County Clerk's office.

"Well, what do you say?" Young suggested to Miss Largent.

"Yes," came the blushing reply. "All right, let's go," Young shouted. "And how about you folks?" he demanded of Olmstead and Miss Ely. "Let's make it a double wedding."

A few minutes later the quartet appeared before Magistrate Henry Bray, who interrupted a session of court to tie the double knot.

The party was on an automobile tour from their Nebraska homes and were sightseeing in Denver while their machine was being repaired in a local garage.

QUESTION CLARK'S STATEMENT

(By International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 20.—Assertions are made here that Henry Clark, who was supposed to have been captured by bandits and held for ransom in Chihuahua, has been playing a little comedy for some purpose and that he was never in the hands of bandits.

No effort is made to explain why Clark should have attempted a deception beyond a hint that he might have thought of collecting a ransom for himself.

Clark is said to be a British subject and not an American. He is employed by the International Land and Live Stock Co., a Chicago corporation which owns large tracts in Northern Mexico.

The assertion that Clark told of imaginary bandits is similar to the charge made against former Consul W. O. Jenkins, of Puebla, after he had figured in a sensational $150,000 ransom case.

CENTENARIAN GIVES ADVICE ON LONGEVITY

(By International News Service)

DEFIANCE, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Living a hundred years or more is a simple matter if you take the word of Francis Ferdinand Mekus, who a few days ago celebrated his 110th birthday.

When asked his recipe for a long life he said:

"Quit eating 'nick-nacks.' Eat only solid, substantial food."

"Walk when you have to go anywhere. Forget the elevator. Use your legs, and, finally—

"Play lots of pinochle."

Sounds simple, but the Defiance centenarian says that observance of these three rules has seen him safely to a life span far beyond that enjoyed by the average man, and from all appearances he is good for many a year more.

So far as food goes he is a lover of plain and simple fare. Pie and cake he long ago marked off his menu as being neither wholesome nor satisfying, but as for meat, vegetables and bread—hot and cold—he eats as substantial a meal as a busy workman.

Long walks and cards are his diversion. On his one hundredth birthday he walked six miles and then sat down to a hearty noon-day meal.

Although a resident of the United States for more than fifty years he speaks no English. His formula for a long and happy life was translated from his native German by a daughter.

"What does he think of prohibition?" the interviewer asked.

"It wouldn't be safe to ask him," the daughter said, and refused to translate the query.

On the tobacco question Mr. Mekus is a distinct liberal. When not eating, during his waking hours, he always has a pipe in his mouth.

MOTHER O'MINE AT PALACE GRAND

A treat is in store for all lovers of the real cinema drama. In the Thomas H. Ince feature, "Mother O' Mine," the Palace Grand has secured what has been pronounced by critics as one of the biggest dramas of the year.

It is something different in the "mother" type in that it portrays a character that all know and love—the everyday mother—not gray-haired, bent and aged, but the mother whom thousands of boys in every community possess.

The cast is well chosen and includes Lloyd Hughes, Claire McDowell (playing the title role), Joseph Kilgour, Betty Blythe and Betty Ross Clarke, who will appear in person each evening.

Today is your last chance to enjoy the "laugh king," Charles Chaplin and "The Kid," who close their engagement of frolic tonight. It is six reels of the fastest fun you ever saw.

"The Scoffer" is the second feature on the bill and is a tense drama of action and appeal.

Kinograms, the latest up-to-the-minute news reel, completes the program.

SAVING A HUNDRED

"Dad," said the financier's son, running into his father's office, "lend me $600."

"What for, my boy?"

"I've got a sure tip on the market. 'How much shall we make out of it?' asked the old man, cautiously.

"A couple of hundred sure," replied the boy eagerly. "That's a hundred each."

"Here's your hundred," said his father. "Let's consider that we have made this deal and that is, has succeeded. You make a hundred dollars and I save five hundred."

GO DOWN STRAIGHT UP

Sam, on board the transport, had hobnails. "One thing sure," he ruminated, "if Ah falls overboard, Ah suddenly will go down at 'tenshun.'"

TREAT FOR PRESS BOYS

Big doings are in store for the 30 or more delivery boys of the Glendale Daily Press. Circulation Manager R. J. Corrigan is going to be host to the boys and take them to the Palace Grand to see Charlie Chaplin and Jackie Coogan in "The Kid."

Before they go to the show Mr. Corrigan is going to fill all "vacancies" with ice cream and other good things to eat.

BAY CITY ARTIST DONS ORIENTAL COSTUMES

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 21.—Dress reformers and style evokers found themselves blinking in the sunlight of reality, and Miss Doris Bothwell, talented artist and a member of San Francisco's Greenwich Village younger set certainly started something when she appeared on the streets in a costume entirely new and novel to Americans in the line of women's wearing apparel.

Miss Bothwell's garb is nothing more than the costume of an Oriental woman of the better middle class and solves the enigma for her as to the high price of clothing. She wears coat and trousers just as the women of San Francisco's Oriental section do.

"My change from the American style was the result of necessity," said the coy little miss, in explaining why she took up the new clothing idea. "Paints, canvas and other necessities of an amateur artist are so expensive, and I had to economize some way, so I decided it should be in the line of dress. And the difference in cost, as compared to American clothes, is astonishing."

The difference in cost compared to street clothes is about half, and for evening dress the margin runs even higher, she explained.

"I bought a street suit of wool and silk for $10 and a work suit for $5," she said, exhibiting the garments, "and they look rather natty, too," she added.

"For an evening dress, American style, one would have to pay at least $100, while I got a colored silk suit, Oriental style, for $20. For the $100 you could secure about the best materials made in China and Japan," she said.

Underclothing Unnecessary

Miss Bothwell's costume consists of trousers, coat and top-jacket of silk, without sleeves, and usually of some pleasing color. For an Oriental wardrobe is very compact, and several changes of clothes can be carried in the same space as can a fewer number of changes of American clothes.

The wardrobe of Miss Bothwell consists of about four suits and will answer for every occasion, she says.

"Another feature is that no underclothes—in the way of skirts—are needed, and they are very comfortable, more so than anything I've ever worn before," she said. "And the thing that tickles me is that I do not have to wear hat or gloves."

So far Miss Bothwell has not taken to the Oriental shoe, but announces she is having shoes—or rather, sandals—made to order, which will cost only $1.75 per pair.

"When it is cold all you have to do is put on a couple of extra suits," she explained, in answer to the query as to how she kept warm on cool evenings.

"It seemed unusual at first, I admit, but I had to solve the high cost of clothes, and rather like the idea," she concluded.

CHICAGO FAMILY IS LATEST IN GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffith, of Chicago, have come to Glendale to make their home.

Mr. Griffith recently bought some lots on West Euclid street and is erecting bungalows.

Their sons, David and Thomas, are with them and it is their intention to enter the building business. David is already connected with Glendale High, this being his last year.

The kisses that women give each other are not the kind the moving picture censor cuts out.

NOW IS THE TIME! DO YOU OWN YOUR OWN HOME?

Why not? Because you have been apparently unable to save enough money for the first payment? But, really, that is no excuse, for by starting a small savings account at the FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Glendale, on the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway—you'll soon have enough—and "to spare!" The joy and pride of ownership, alone, is worth the effort it might cost you! Won't you try it just for a few months? I know that you'll be surprised and delighted at the rapidity with which it will grow—for you know the First National Bank pays interest at the rate of 4 per cent—and it amounts to quite a good deal after a few months time! To save your money and invest it wisely is to be truly well on the road to Success! Make up your mind that you will deposit in your new savings account just a small amount each week—and then abide by it! Whatever you do don't let a week pass by without making your deposit—and the first thing you'll know you'll have a good sized bank account! When you have saved a few hundred dollars, the officials of the First National Bank will be more than pleased to advise you as to the best possible investment for your money—and in no time at all your money will be working for you and earning a good rate of interest! It is in this manner that fortunes are made—not by luck or chance—but by saving and investing wisely! Stop in at the First National Bank today and open a savings account!

In a navy frock, henna sleeves or georgette are trimmed with a banding of chenille that is embroidered in tone of gold, bronze, and wood brown. Below this a cuff of the canton is used.

OH! SUCH STUNNING MODELS!
QUITE THE MOST FETCHING HATS I've seen this season are now being shown at the YARBROUGH HAT SHOP, 108 West Broadway! Charming models trimmed with long, drooping ostrich feathers seem to be quite the vogue, while Mrs. Yarbrough also has an exceptional line of gaily colored feather turbans and distinctive velvet and duvetyne shapes! In fact, Yarbrough hats seem to have a certain distinctiveness all their own! If you've not purchased your new fall chapeau yet, don't wait another day—for Mrs. Yarbrough has truly an excellent selection of quite the most stunning models you'll find!

Tricotine is narrowly belted, banded in brocade braid, and slashed in front to show a lingerie vest.

FOR MILADY'S BEAUTY
MRS. MAE E. BILLIG has just announced the opening of the BROADWAY BEAUTY PARLOR at 214 East Broadway! You should really go up there and pay her a visit, for I know you'll find her attractive shop! And you'll enjoy that whether it be a shampoo, a manicure, a henna pack or a facial massage—in fact anything to make Milady more beautiful, the Broadway Beauty Parlor is fully equipped to handle it—and Mrs. Billig will give you her personal attention, for she, too, is thoroughly experienced along these lines!

One of the most vivid tones is noted in a purple model of crepe.

UNUSUAL DESIGNS

A SPECIAL SALE of high class wall papers has been announced by L. H. ALLISON, 105 West Broadway! These are a special shipment that has just been received from an eastern factory and among them are all of the very latest patterns and designs! The prices are lower than ever before—and really, many of them have never before been offered for sale at all for the designs are just brand new! A fresh new wall paper does make such a difference in the appearance of your home, doesn't it? But in selecting your papers be sure that they will be of harmonious colorings, for remember that your walls are the background of all your interior decoration! And, speaking of interior decoration, there is really no one better qualified than Mr. Allison to advise you along such lines, for Mr. Allison has been for a great many years an interior decorator—and you may be assured that if he selects the papers and decorations for your walls they will be in excellent taste! But by all means take advantage of the opportunity to secure this new line of papers at such drastic reductions, for it is not often that one is able to purchase high class papers of entirely new design so reasonably!

One of the prettiest dresses is a quaint, tight-bodied model with a narrow band of black net finishing the neckline, which hugs the shoulders and serves as a foundation for the lattice work of French blue tubing.

EXCLUSIVE FEATURES

THE GLENDALE ELECTRIC CO. received a shipment of the wonderful new Universal Heater! There are just ever so many exclusive features that make the Universal so much more worth while than other models—and not the least among these is the special screw-in-element—which operates on the same principle as the bulb of a lamp, for should it burn out or break at any time, a new element may be purchased and it is quickly replaced without the slightest inconvenience! Then, too, there is a fancy copper reflector, with a guard that is easily removable for dusting and cleaning, and mounted on a fancy green and bronze base. And, did you know that your percolator or toaster cord may be used on the new Universal? Yes, indeed, and in the summer time a bulb may be screwed in and you've just a dandy porch light! Stop at the Glendale Electric Co. and look over this new electric heater!

Large bows of alligator ribbon are noted on both velvet and crepe shapes.

MARTHA MALICIA

CHARACTER DOLLS

FOR THE WEE LITTLE MISS who has broken her dolly—here's just the thing! FISHER'S VARIETY STORE of 212 East Broadway, have just received a new shipment of quite the most fascinating character dolls I've seen—and what's more—they are unbreakable! Yes, indeed, just the dolls for the kiddies to knock about! And at such unusual prices as Mr. Fisher has put on them you should surely supply your Christmas needs now—for time is flying and December will soon be here! You can't afford to miss the opportunity to buy these cutest of dolls from 95c to $2.59.

Embroidery is the chief form of trimming, employed in vari-colored flosses for the most part, and with an occasional introduction of beads, such as large enamel-finished ones.

FOR A MODERN AND UP-TO-DATE HOME!

FOR THE AMOUNT OF MONEY involved, the replacement of those old wooden floors with a new hardwood flooring will really do more towards making your home modern and up-to-date than 'most anything I know of! And you will find the cost unusually low, if you call the GLENDALE HARDWOOD FLOORING CO., 304 East Broadway—for they do excellent work and are thoroughly reliable!

Of Cambridge crepe, which resembles the Russian weave, is a straightline navy frock with a narrow belt of the material.

GEMS FROM THE MUSICAL WORLD!

ALL HAIL, YE MUSIC LOVERS! Now that Autumn is here, the phonograph once more resumes its place at the long evenings at home it is the phonograph that will offer entertainment! You will, then, welcome this new list of attractive and distinctive Brunswick recordings for October! There are such universal favorites as Billy Jones singing "Mimi"—coupled with "Down at the Old Swan Hole," by Billy Jones and Ernest Hare, an irresistible memory of vacation, boyhood and pure fun! "The Last Waltz," introducing "Now Fades My Golden Love Dream," is just the sort of waltz which everyone enjoys, dreamy, full of rhythm and pleasant memories, it bids fair to rival the old, but ever new, "Merry Widow!" With the reverse side, "Mississippi Cradle," another pretty melody, played also by Carl Fenton's famous dance orchestra this record is one that will have instant appeal to all lovers of the dance—and to those who appreciate the best in music! An exquisitely melodious recording of two lovely airs, familiar to all Americans, is "Juanita," played on the violin, flute and harp, with all of their beauty, by the Gondolier Trio, and coupled with "Woodland Echoes!" This is a number which every family should own and appreciate! These are but a few of the rare and beautiful recordings to be found in the list on sale at the NEW ARTISTIC BRUNSWICK SHOPPE, 126 So. Brand boulevard. There are just ever so many more, gems from the musical world presented in solos of genuine worth and popularity, by Leopold Godowsky, the master pianist; Max Rosen, violinist; Dorothy Jordan, dramatic soprano; The Karle, favorite of all concert tenors, and Miss Lenox, an expressive contralto. Drop in and hear them while their stock is still complete!

Clovers that sprinkle a navy canton dress are embroidered in green silk and outlined in gilt beads, and the yolk and skirt are edged with more elaborate design.

NECESSITIES

CAN YOU IMAGINE IT? Just the most ideal fountain pens can be bought from only $2.50 up at BOTT'S BOOK STORE, 113 South Brand boulevard! Yes, it's the Swan Fountain Pen—and you know they are wonderful for school use! And you should have an Eversharp Pencil, too—for school, and particularly as they are priced as low as $1 at Bott's.

Other trimming features show self fabric, flowers or foliage.

JUST WHAT YOU'D EXPECT TO FIND

THE WELL GROOMED MAN is always correctly gloved—he realizes that if he looks correct he will always feel comfortable and confident! ROBINSON'S MEN'S SHOP at 116A South Brand boulevard are now carrying a full stock of high-grade men's gloves. Such well-known makes as the Wilson Bros., Dent, and Ireland are now to be found in a full range of sizes at their shop. No matter what the occasion might be, My Lord will most certainly find just the glove he desires at Robinson's, for they carry a complete line for driving, street dress—and in all of the very newest fall shades! And, then, too, he may also have his choice of materials—mocha, suede, kid or either the imported or domestic leather! In short, they are just exactly the kind of gloves you'd expect to find at Robinson's—because Robinson's invariably feature the very best in men's furnishings! Oh, yes, and they also carry a complete stock in the cadet sizes, regular sizes, and extra sizes—so you are assured of a perfect fitting at Robinson's!

Blacks are in the great majority, with brown probably next in favor, the latter shade combined with tan repeated in the trimming of many of the black models.

IMPARTING STYLE!

MOST EVERY WOMAN RESENTS the idea of wearing a health corset. To the average woman this means a loose, comfortable corset, without a particle of style. This may be true, of course, of some corsets that are sold under this name, but not of the Modart Front-Laced Corsets! The Modart Front-Laced Corset offers, first, a real support to the figure. It is never loose. It hugs the figure as smoothly as a glove. Its scientific design enables it to exert gentle support at the proper points, and there is an absence of pressure where pressure would be harmful. It polices its wearer correctly, so that the bodily weight is properly distributed and the Corset stands erect. The Modart Corset lacks neither style nor figure-improving qualities. It possesses and imparts both. For those women who have experienced difficulties in being satisfactorily fitted, or who have been told that the peculiarities of their figure require a health corset—HATZ'S, at 132 North Brand boulevard, have an enjoyable surprise in store! Recent arrivals of the very newest Modart models have completed their stock for the season's requirements. Stop in at Hatz's, the Shop for Correct Women's Wear, and look over their line.

"TONE" TO ANY HOME!
THE MOST CHARMING and exclusively patterned rugs you'll find at the ENTERPRISE FURNITURE CO., 216 East Broadway! Exquisitely designed of the very "best" in the new fall colors—each and every one is a rug to add "tone" to any home! Yes, and of course you can also buy just the most delightful patterns in linoleums for your kitchen and bathroom at the Enterprise Furniture Co.

Navy tricotine has side panels buttoned on and trimming of fagotting.

DOUGHNUTS
4 tablespoons shortening
2 1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
2 1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
Cream shortening, add sugar and well-beaten egg. Stir in milk. Add nutmeg, salt, flour, and baking powder which have been sifted together, and enough additional flour to make dough stiff enough to roll. Roll out on flour-board to 1/4-inch thick. Cut out and fry in deep fat, hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 1 minute. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

A little lemon added to water in which rice is boiled will whiten it wonderfully. This will also help to keep the grains separated.

A SPECIAL

If you are not quite prepared to build your own home yet, here is just the opportunity for which you've been waiting: J. F. STANFORD of 112 1/2 South Brand boulevard has a comfortable four-room two-story garage house, built on the rear of a large lot—50x150 feet—and quite close in. The price is exceedingly reasonable—only $2900—and of that but $700 must be cash, the balance is payable monthly, at less than a rental rate. This is just the sort of place for you until you can afford to build as you want—and it would be excellent income property!

GRAND VIEW STARTS ITS OWN BOOSTER ORGANIZATION

At its meeting last night, held in Bottsford's hall, the Grand View Improvement Association voted to reorganize under the name of Glendale Foothill Improvement Association.

A committee headed by Alexander Mitchell as chairman, was appointed to draft constitution and by-laws, and another committee, of which Mr. Jones of Pacific Avenue is chairman, was named to canvass for members.

The association also voted for the Bottsford hall on Glenwood avenue, formerly Sixth street, east of Grand View, as a permanent meeting place, and to hold regular sessions monthly, the next meeting to take place the first Tuesday evening in October.

The school committee reported it had obtained from the Pacific Electric railroad a 3-cent rate each way for children attending the Cental avenue school.

Mrs. Buckman, who is a member of the committee, told of the freight-car which the Pacific Electric had been sending out just before the car which the children would take and which they did take one morning by mistake. She took the matter up with Pacific Electric officials and as a matter of safety to the children they have taken the car off. The committee also reported that most of the children will attend Glendale schools, but the children in three families will go to Burbank.

Reports were submitted of applicants for membership and the outlook for the association appeared very bright. The election of officers will take place at the next meeting, October 4.

WATERFRONT THIEVES CAUSE MUCH ALARM

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—An announcement has been made by Governor W. D. Stephens that he has started a rigid investigation into the why and whereof of enormous theft losses in the export and import trade in California.

Stephens' attention was called to "the alarming conditions prevailing" by A. D. Lasker, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, who informed the Governor that "such losses constitute an alarming burden upon our export business and are seriously disrupting trade with foreign nations."

At the Governor's request the several state and city harbor commissions have initiated an investigation and a determined effort will be made to bring the waterfront thieves to justice. Lasker also complained in his communication to the Governor that courts are inclined to be "too lenient" with persons arrested on such charges. Truckmen, longshoremen and lightermen are blamed for the losses.

SHETLAND PONY TO BE GIVEN AWAY AT COUNTY FAIR

Oh, kids, listen to this! Here is a chance to get a beautiful Shetland pony, cart and harness valued at $500, by the mere drawing of a ticket.

"Maxine," a jolly little Shetland, coal black, may be yours if you play in luck, according to announcement made today by the officials of the Los Angeles County fair which will be held at San Fernando, Sept. 19-24. Here is the announcement as it is officially made:

"Every child who pays admission to the San Fernando Valley fair during the week, from the opening day, will be given a free number entitling him or her to a chance on the Shetland pony, 'Maxine,' cart and harness. The drawing will be held at 2 p. m. at the children's matinee, Saturday afternoon, September 24. The numbers will be drawn from a sealed box. The first number drawn, duplicate of which is held by a child who is present at the matinee, will receive the outfit, which is valued at $500. Numbers will be drawn until the winning number is called."

Hundreds of kiddies throughout the valley, and in Los Angeles city, are eagerly preparing to try for 'Maxine' and the cart, and excitement reigns among the juveniles of the county over the outcome of this drawing.

Legion News

Major J. W. Sutphen will cook the winners. Lieut. Col. J. J. Mudgett will open the bottles, and make the sandwiches. Capt. Walter Brinkop will serve. Lieut. Guernsey P. Kraser will wash the dishes.

A cloud of majors, captains and lieutenants will hover about ready to gratify the slightest wish of a hundred or more buck privates.

No, buddy, it isn't a doughboy's dream. It is a forecast of what is going to happen tonight at a meeting of veterans of the Ninety-first Division to be held at Victory Post, American Legion. They are going to iron out final details of the reunion to be held Saturday and Sunday, when between 15,000 and 20,000 of their buddies are expected in Los Angeles; iron them out so that the affair will run as smoothly as a regimental review.

A half hundred men or so are needed for various details and officers-members of the division association could think of no better way of getting men to turn out to the meeting than by showing them a bunch of shoulder-strappers actually at work—and on K. P.

RICHES HAVE STRINGS

"Would you marry a man for money?" "So," replied Miss Cayenne, "I'd prefer a husband in moderate circumstances to one who is in a perpetual hurry about his income tax."

Purely Personal

Mrs. Colin Cable, 505 South Columbus avenue, was one of the Glendale ladies who assisted at the Tuesday Afternoon Club booth at the San Fernando fair on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wooster Gist and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dean Hyde of Eulalia street drove to the beach Saturday evening and spent an enjoyable week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gist and two daughters, 325 Pioneer drive, and Mrs. E. C. Jones and daughters, 329 Pioneer drive, motored to Santa Barbara Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gitz and Miss Carrie Carnegie of Los Angeles, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Reichenbach of 1514 South Gardena avenue.

Among the recent arrivals in Glendale is Edward Lawlor of Malden, Mass., who is visiting his sister, Mrs. H. H. Fraser, 527 East Lomita.

Miss Lillian Tracy, 302 North Isabel street, is leaving for Hollywood where she will attend the Immaculate Heart College.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Curran and family, 560 Riverside drive, moved yesterday to 416 West Elk avenue.

Mrs. L. L. Biggs, 235 South Cedar street, returned home Monday from the Glendale hospital. She is getting along very nicely.

Captains of the teams who are canvassing for subscriptions for the new Congregational Church will report and make plans for the campaign following the mid-week prayer service Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. B. Gaugh, who has been visiting in California for several weeks and who has been the guest for the past ten days of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin, left yesterday for Fresno to complete her visit in California before leaving for her home in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Franklin, who have taken a house for a couple of months on Milford street, have been entertaining guests from Oklahoma. Mr. and Mrs. Staussler, who have been taking in the sights of Los Angeles County and who will leave for San Diego today or tomorrow. The Franklins may decide to spend the winter here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Horne and twins of Valley View road, Casa Verdugo, have been out camping for the past three weeks. They are now spending two weeks at Yosemite Valley and having a delightful time. Mrs. Horne is Cleo Ridgley on the screen and Mr. Horne is a moving picture director, recently directing the production of "The Bronze Bell."

SHIFTING VIEWPOINT

At Camp Ayer, during the war, a tall soldier who occasionally grew over-stimulated, artificially, stepped from a street car and fell into the mud, soiling his brand new uniform.

Rising, he looked all about to see if he had been observed. He had. Going to one of his observers, he asked solemnly:

"Ju see me fall?" "Yes, indeed." "Ever see me before?" "No." "Then," triumphantly, "how ja know 'twas me?"

SOME BOXERS ARE LIKE CHEESE SAYS SPORT WRITER

(Written for TAD for International News Service)

There never was a time in the whole history of boxing when the men of that profession were so bad as they are today.

At present there are two really good champions—Jack Dempsey, king of the heavies, and Benny Leonard, king of the 135-pounders. The rest you can toss into the ash can.

There are other fairly good title holders, but the writer can't class them with the champs of other days.

And when one stops to think of the fortunes they get in purses these days it almost knocks you silly. Think of a ham and egg fighter like Johnny Wilson getting $37,500 to box another ham and egg fighter, Bryan Downey. Wilson's end would be a fortune for the ordinary man. It is more than he could earn in a lifetime, yet the cheese champion slaps his way through twelve rounds of boxing and picks up the change.

Tex Rickard isn't to blame. The sucker public is the cause of it.

It's no wonder the fighters laugh. Think of the purses that second-raters got at Madison Square Garden last winter.

As long as the sucker public falls for the bunk big purses will rule.

There may be hard times all over America, but when you look over a fight crowd and think of what they pay for seats you really can't believe that the wolf is howling at any door.

Bum fighters are getting rich and they don't have to learn how to box. We haven't a heavyweight, except the champion, worth his salt. Name your best heavy, leaving out Dempsey. Will he fight Fulton? No, you bet he won't. They'll all fight Dempsey for the short end, but get pale at the thought of meeting Fulton.

Where are the heavies? Joe Wolcott, a welterweight, could lick every one we have. Can you picture any of them in the ring with the Langford of a few years ago? And the heavies—can you see them fighting Sharkey, Jeffries, Johnson, Corbett, Jackson or Fitzsimmons a few years ago?

Johnny Wilson, middle-weight champion! That's a laugh.

Try to picture him against Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy, Jack Root, Hugo Kelly, Stanley Ketchel, Billy Papke, or even Sailor Burke.

Pipe the tough birds Leonard has to fight. There isn't one who is a real contender. Where would that bunch be with Lavigne, Erne, McPadden, Hawkins, Gans, Nelson or Willie Fitzgerald?

Feathers? Johnny Kilbane, an old man, still rules them. There isn't a feather who stands out as a real contender.

The rank high in battles with the old-timers, wouldn't they? Can you see them beating McGovern, Corbett, Griffo, Gardner, Herrera, Attell or Yanger.

The public doesn't seem to tire. They pay and the bruisers collect.

Fighters today don't need to learn how to box. Things are coming too easy.

PLOTTED LENINE'S DEATH

(By International News Service) LONDON, Sept. 20.—High emissaries of the Serbian Government organized a plot to assassinate Lenin and Trotsky in 1918, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Herald, who reports that details have been published by Stanislaw Vinavar, former Serbian military attaché at Moscow.

M. Spalajkovic, Serbian ambassador to Moscow, picked several Serbian soldiers to kill the two Soviet leaders, according to this account. He led them to believe that Lenin and Trotsky were German agents and told them they would be doing a patriotic act. The soldiers, however, overheard a conversation which led them to believe otherwise, and they refused to have anything to do with the plot.

Several days later, reports the Herald's correspondent, Serbian officers who were implicated were arrested in Moscow and sentenced to death. I nine himself intervened in their behalf, saved their lives and had them deported.

English Pessimistic Over Fate Of Youths

By EARLE C. REEVES,

Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The modern young thing who uses a lip-stick and smokes in the most public of public places, and calls her dad "Old Bean," may now slip silently into a corner and pursue her modern reflections undisturbed.

Literary tastes among the critics have changed.

A few months back she was the target of much comment, the subject of much typesetting. Criticism of the 1921 flapper was quite the mode of the hour.

But it seems that the male of the species is equally deadly, which is to say that he is going to the dogs, and taking the future of the nation with him, willy-nilly.

Many people are saying so, publicly, in bold type. The Times printed many letters on the subject, all started by "Old Etonian," branding the male youth of the day in many ways, most of which boiled down to "impertinent young puppy." One gathers that the youth of 1921 had little of the proper respect for "Old Etonians." There were several of the latter writing to the papers from the writing schools of their silent clubs before the crusade ended.

"The Mother of One of Them" takes up their defense. She admits her son is some, even many, of the things Old Etonian charges, "but the war did it."

"If he is independent, casual, unconventional (as he undoubtedly is)," she writes, "he is also straight, honorable and clean minded, a young man who can be trusted and respected, and his many friends seem all very much of the same type. After all these are the things that really matter, and I fail to find the intolerance of authority that most of your correspondents complain of."

To the Defense of Youth

Sir Sidney Low, himself of the old school, and a critic and publicist of high standing, comes to the defense of today. He says that "elderly gentlemen" have been erupting into the newspapers that it is "very sad about the manners, behavior and character of the young folks about them."

"For my part," he says, "I think some of the differences are not symptomatic of the times."

Modern young men are alert, open-minded, active, courageous who can doubt that," eager and quick to learn, impatient of social snobishness and artificial class barriers.

"Their fathers before them were no braver men, or keener sportsmen, or better citizens. On the whole, a creditable lot of young fellows who will do very well."

EXPENSIVE BUSINESS

A red-headed boy applied for a job in a butcher shop. "How much will you give me?"

"Three dollars a week; but what can you do to make yourself useful around a butcher shop?"

"Anything."

"Well, be specific. Can you dress a chicken?"

"Not on three dollars a week," said the boy.

"It's one of the saddest cases I've ever heard of."

"What is it?"

"A case of twenty-four bottles of one-half of one per cent."

Women pose for the benefit of other women and for men, but men generally pose to give themselves confidence when they know they haven't much to back it up.

TROPICO REAL ESTATE BOOM IS NOW UNDERWAY

Fall and Winter Influx of Home Seekers Reaches South Glendale—Lot and House Buying Increases, While Building Operations Are Being Rushed

The fall and winter influx of property seekers has struck South Glendale. Calls for real estate there are becoming more numerous every day, and the real estate market is very much more brisk than it was two or three months ago. Calls for vacant lots still predominate.

With hardly an exception, those buying lots are doing so with the intention of constructing homes.

At the Tropico office of the Charles B. Githrie Co., where W. E. High is agent, business is active. Among the sales made by this company during the week are the following:

A bungalow court site at the intersection of Glendale avenue and Garfield to William Griffin, a plumber of Tropico, who will immediately begin the construction of six rental homes.

To Mr. LaMonte of San Gabriel, a lot on El Bonita near San Fernando road, upon which he will construct a seven-room house.

To Frank Ashton of this city, a lot on El Bonita near San Fernando road. He plans a double bungalow, to cost about $6000.

Two lots on Riverdale drive, one to a Mr. Case and the other to a Mr. Roberts, both of Los Angeles. It is the intention of the buyers to construct homes.

To Paul Hall of Inglewood, the residence belonging to Mrs. Netherly at 215 East Acacia, has been sold. Mr. Paul will take possession at once.

Two and three-quarter acres on East Windsor road to W. E. High and associates, who have already subdivided the property into 12 lots, 50 by 150 feet. The inside lots have been placed on the market at $1000 and $1250 each, while the corners are $1500 and $1750 each.

Building Activity
One of the most important announcements along the building line for South Glendale is the bungalow court, consisting of ten individual homes, that will soon be started on West Acacia avenue by William H. LaFountain, of 203 West Acacia. They will be located on three lots recently purchased by Mr. LaFountain. It is the intention of Mr. LaFountain to rent these houses just as soon as they are completed.

An unconfirmed rumor has it that a Los Angeles syndicate has purchased the southeast corner of Park avenue and San Fernando road, and intends to make elaborate improvements on the property at once. It is understood that these improvements will consist of cutting one of two streets through the property and the construction of 28 first-class homes, which will be sold as rapidly as completed.

New Homes

William Tatham has well under construction a five-room house at 203 Magnolia avenue.

Gustave Thimm, one of the boosting newcomers to Glendale, has just completed the construction of a five-room home at 1216 South Central avenue at a cost of about $7000.

Mr. Thimm and family, who recently came to Glendale from Utica, N. Y., will take possession within a short time. This home is modern in the extreme, with all built-in features, and has a double garage.

Another five-room home is being constructed by Mr. Thimm at 215 Magnolia avenue on the Stepper tract. This will be constructed on the Swiss type and will cost about $4000.

C. M. Retts, of West Park avenue, has started the construction of a bungalow court at the corner of East Palmer avenue and Boynton street. There will be two single houses and one double residence in this court.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB TO SEEK SCHOOL PROTECTION

Meeting of South Glendale Organization to Receive Local Building Reports

The weekly meeting of the South Glendale Improvement Club will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the hall over the library at the corner of Los Feliz road and Brand boulevard.

There are a number of important matters to come before the meeting and it is requested that all property owners in that section be present at the meeting.

The question of better school facilities, which was continued over from last week's meeting, will come up again at the session tonight.

This is one of the most serious questions of the southern section of the city. Many of the residents of the section claim that the Cerritos avenue school building is a veritable firetrap and they are determined that something in the way of better fire protection must be given them.

FORMER MERCHANT OF TROPICO DIES

Word has been received by the friends of H. W. Butts, former proprietor of the B. & B. grocery on the San Fernando road, but lately of Los Angeles, that he died at his home there at noon yesterday. Arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

TROPICO CROCHET WORK EXHIBITED

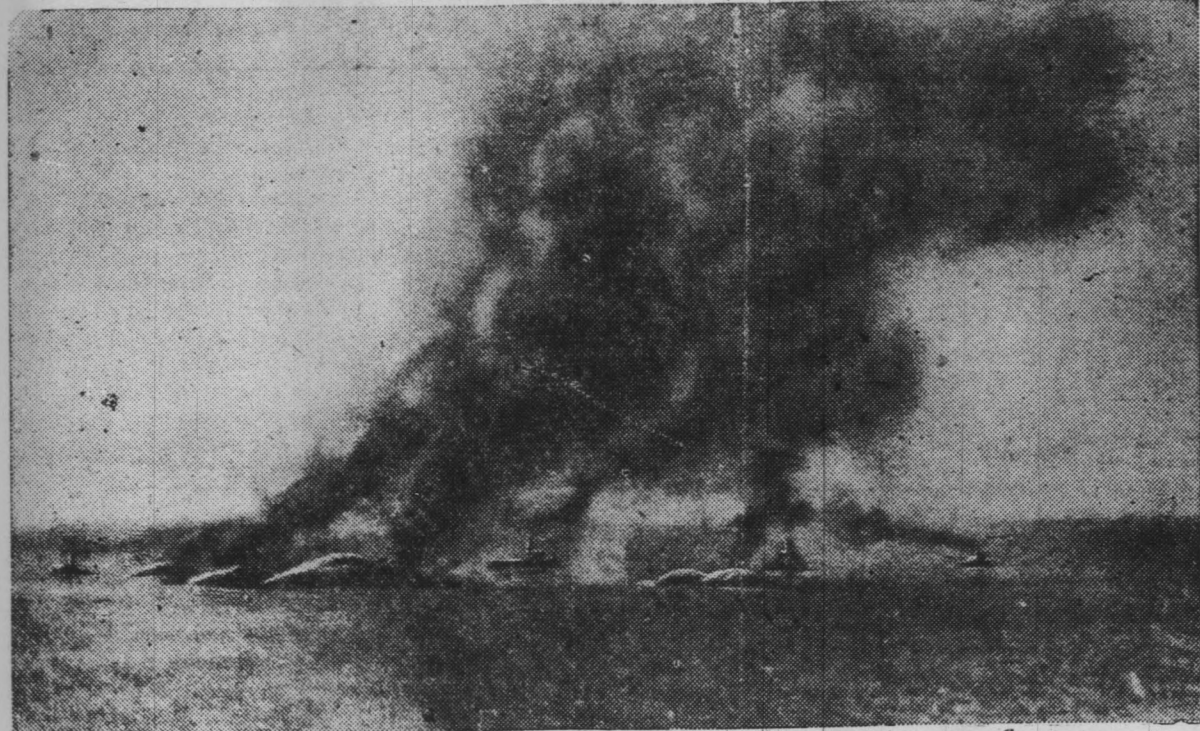

An elaborate bedspread which was crocheted by Mrs. Henry Pentecost and Mrs. Tisdale, is on exhibition at the San Fernando Fair this week. It is being displayed by the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club.

ATTEND C. E. MEETING
A party consisting of Harry Marple, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, Miss Mary Sharp, Miss Dorothy Thompson and Rev. Frank Muller, will go to Lancaster Saturday to attend the meeting of the Antelope Valley Christian Endeavor Union.

The union will be held Saturday afternoon and evening and all day Sunday. Mr. Marple will give a short talk on the Four Square contest and will also lead the music at the several sessions.

MOTOR TO OCEAN PARK
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Satow, 1513 1/2 South San Fernando road, motored to Ocean Park last Sunday. For several hours they enjoyed the ocean breezes, motoring home in the cool of the evening.

PHOTO OF THE ZR-2 AS SHE STRUCK THE WATER IN FLAMES

The only photograph made of the ZR-2 as she struck the water in flames. Looking at the picture, it appears as if a heavy smoke screen was being laid down. Tugs went out to the rescue almost before the burning vessel had hit the Humber River.

COUNTY FAIR OFFERS MANY FEATURES TO ALL VISITORS

The county fair now being held at San Fernando is a surprise and revelation, even to the best informed and enthusiastic residents of the valley.

The magnitude of the undertaking and the well planned arrangement of the grounds are frequent subjects of comment by those in attendance.

The very complete line of exhibits include many prize winners in other fairs. The livestock show has an especially large number of prize winners at the state fair.

The household arts division should have had double the space assigned to properly display the handiwork of the housewives of the county. The quantity of fine needlework and other lines is much greater than had been anticipated by the directors.

Many interesting attractions, besides the exhibits are on the grounds. The beautiful dance pavilion, supervised by the American Legion, was liberally patronized. The various women's clubs of the valley have refreshment booths. The Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club booth is especially popular because of the attendance of a large number of Glendale people and their friends from out of town, and many compliments were paid the committee in charge because of the delicious viands and efficient service.

The needlework, cut flowers and plants, preserved and canned fruit, art and child welfare exhibits were all supervised yesterday by committees of Glendale women, who were hostesses for the day.

The fair is a great exposition of the scope of commercial, manufacturing and agricultural activities in this county, and is well worth not only one trip but several.

The admission is only 50 cents, and ample auto parking space under special police guard, is provided.

FISHER PARTY HOME AFTER TRIP ABROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Fisher, their daughter, Miss Katherine Fisher, and niece, Miss Maud Holloway, returned yesterday from a very pleasant trip abroad, and, as Mr. Fisher expressed it today, glad to get back to Glendale where prices are approaching "normalcy."

During their stay in England, which extended from about May 1 to a fortnight ago, the party spent most of their time in and around London. Mr. Fisher says he did not visit Ireland, preferring to let "George" do it. They are glad to be back in Glendale and are making their home at 716 South Brand boulevard.

It is hard to say which is responsible for the most automobile accidents—back-seat drivers or one-arm drivers.

Making Ponzi a Piker

Max Klante, Berlin banker, whose "sporting bank" is attracting international attention, Klante advertises that he will pay 100 per cent each two months on money deposited with him. This money is bet on horse races, and Klante claims to have profited thirty million marks in three months by following his own system of betting.

SALEM STREET IS BUILDING RAPIDLY

Two building permits were issued to H. A. Michel today for the erection of two five-room houses with garages, one to be located at 504 West Salem and the other at 512 West Salem.

These two houses will be the fourth and fifth now under construction on Salem street owned by Mr. Michel. Each house is being built at an estimated cost of $3000 and will be on the market for sale as soon as they are completed.

A general plan is followed in the construction of these houses, but each house has a few individual features that will appeal to the taste of different buyers. The houses, with but two exceptions, are frame buildings and unplastered. The two exceptions are plastered.

Work on the buildings for which permits were issued today will start at once. The other three buildings owned by Mr. Michel are already under construction.

At the same time that Mr. Michel took out permits for his latest buildings W. H. Barnes applied for and received permits to erect two residences on Salem street also. With the commencing of work on these two new buildings by Mr. Barnes the total of homes owned and under construction at present on Salem street by him is increased to five. These houses are to cost approximately $3000 each, and as soon as they are completed will be placed on the market for sale.

F. D. MYERS ALTERS CAMPBELL HOME AT BIG COST

F. D. Myers announces that he has recently purchased the house at 332 North Brand boulevard, formerly the property of Robert Campbell, Pittsburg, and has remodeled it, turning the house from a single family one to a double apartment.

The cost of the property was $10,000 and an additional $6,000 has been spent in altering the building.

This building is now a 2-flat dwelling and is one of the most modern, up-to-date flat buildings in Glendale. The unit heating system has been installed and gas can be turned on or off in any room by pressing on a button similar to an electric light switch. Instantaneous water heaters have also been installed.

An excellent garage is provided for tenants as well as individual storage lockers.

The basement has been equipped with a complete electric laundry. There is an electric washing machine and all other modern laundry accessories have been provided.

Mr. Myers recently sold his property in Verdugo Canyon to John E. Bolden, an attorney from Chicago for $12,000. In addition to this property transaction Mr. Myers has sold more than $36,000 worth of property on Brand boulevard between California avenue and Doran street since coming to Glendale.

Mr. Myers and his wife will occupy the upper flat and the lower flat will be for rent.

"GIRLS' FRIENDLY" MEETS

The Girls' Friendly Society met last night in the Guild Hall of St. Mark's Episcopal Church. Plans were made for the coming season.

Among the new members was Miss L. E. Litch, who has recently come to Glendale from Gardner, Mass. Miss Litch was branch secretary of the society there and she will be of great assistance in the work here.

A SURE REMINDER

Perhaps the most original suggestion for a "reminder" was that of the little boy whose grandmother had forgotten his birthday present the year before. She wished to know what she could do in order that she should not forget it again.

"You might put your teeth in upside down," said the boy.

CRITICAL

The Charwoman's Husband (at the door)—"The missus is very ill, ma'am, and won't be able to come this week. Lady—"Oh, I am sorry, George. Nothing very serious, I hope?" Husband—"Well, ma'am, she was so bad last night I had to go to the pictures by myself."

If you had four times as much money as you have, the chances are you'd merely be four times as big a fool as you are.

Tropico Personal

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gillette and family, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brenkman and family, 1510 South San Fernando road, motored to Santa Monica Sunday, where they passed several hours visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Neel, who for the past several months have been residing in South Glendale, are now permanently located in their new home in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Henry Pentecost, 206 West Palmer avenue, had as her house guest, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Bacon of Los Angeles. During the afternoon they called on Mrs. Gilliland of Magnolia avenue, and talked over things of Danville, Ill., where they all resided at one time.

Lee Humiston, who has been spending some time at his home, 128 West Palmer avenue, left Monday afternoon for San Francisco, where he is employed by the Quality Film company.

Mrs. Margaret I. Biggs and Mrs. Henry Pentecost were members of a party of Tuesday Afternoon Club ladies from South Glendale who motored to the fair in San Fernando yesterday.

FAIR ENOUGH

Edwin had been kept in the house all afternoon for being naughty, and toward evening he said: "Mamma, I wish we lived in a flat."

"Why, Edward?" queried his mother.

"Because," answered the little fellow, "people who own flats don't allow children in them."

OBITUARY

HENRY WAGNER BUTTS

Henry Wagner Butts, retired business man, died in Long Beach this morning at 11:30 o'clock, following a brief illness. Deceased was a well-known business man in South Glendale up to a few years ago. He operated what was known as the B. & B. grocery store. Deceased was born in DeKalb, Ill., March 21, 1873. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Maude Butts of Los Angeles, and D. B. Butts, father of the deceased, whose home is in Peola, Kan. Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers on Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with the L. G. Scovern Company in charge.

MRS. STEADE

Mrs. Steade, mother of Douglas Steade, tenor in the First Presbyterian church quartet, passed away at her home in Eagle Rock on Monday. Mrs. Steade was injured in a slight automobile accident on Sunday in Pasadena and died suddenly. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

National Commander of Congressional Medal of Honor Wearers

In the United States there are of all its 100,000,000 population just fifty men who are entitled to wear the Congressional Medal of Honor. The Girls' Glee Club of Glendale High has been organized and elected as its president Miss Dorothy Peart; secretary-treasurer, Mildred Stanford; and general manager, Louise Hollenbeck. Whenever an important program is to be put on, a meeting will be called.

GRATEFUL FOR A FAVOR

When it comes to stinging repartee, Whistler, the painter, had few equals, perhaps no superiors. One day a flagrant bore came fawning up to the artist and said:

"Ah, Mr. Whistler! I went past your house yesterday!"

"Thank you," said the painter earnestly.

K. K. CLUB VISITS MRS. DELIA YOUNG

Members of the K. K. Klub were entertained last night at the home of Mrs. Delia Young, 526 West Doran street. An informal social evening enlivened by music, followed a brief business session, the members present being: Misses Margaret McPherson, Murray Longley, Hazel Ford, Alta Harrison, Miriam Rich, Marian Gregg, Alice Lookabaugh and Della Young.

Eight Year Probe Fails To End Mine Troubles

By J. BART COMPELL
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—What is the question in the West Virginia coal fields? The question is one a special Senate investigating committee is wrestling with. It hasn't found an answer to it yet.

Ever since trouble started in the Kanawha Valley coal fields as far back as the spring of 1912—more than nine years ago—the question has kept bobbing up with every fresh occurrence of violence and sudden death.

A Senate committee spent a large part of 1913 conducting what was known as the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek investigation. A member of that committee was Senator William E. Kenyon, Republican, of Iowa, who is chairman of the present committee.

In a report he made to the Senate in January, 1914, Kenyon pointed out that he had asked Bishop P. J. Donahue, a Catholic prelate familiar with the turbulence of the West Virginia mines and wooded hills, what was the "fundamental trouble."

"He answered that the causes were deep rooted and very obscure to a man unless he thinks, and thinks, and thinks, and traces the roots down into the primary causes," Kenyon stated.

He quoted the bishop as saying: "I should say if I were asked to put it very briefly that it is human greed on both sides."

In commenting at the time on the Bishop's statement, Kenyon wrote: "It is difficult to realize how there can be much human greed on the side of a man who is supporting a family and working day by day in the mines at ordinary living wages but there is greed on the part of owners of the property, and there always will be such greed."

More than seven years after Kenyon so quoted Bishop Donahue, Senator Caraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, sat listening to testimony given recently before the present Senate committee at Washington.

Had No Remedy to Offer
"I am inclined to think that there is a good deal of responsibility on both sides for the troubles they have been having down there in West Virginia," Caraway remarked.

"It appears to me that the fault lies with both sides," said Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee.

Several senators joined with Kenyon in seeking to develop a solution of the situation which has kept the West Virginia coal fields in a condition of civil war for more than nine years and necessitated lately the intervention of Federal armed troops when the governor of the state confessed the state government was helpless.

Caraway's comment was made while D. C. Kennedy, a hard-fisted Scotch-American, formerly president of the West Virginia local of the United Mine Workers and now secretary of the Kanawha Coal Operators' Association, was testifying.

Kennedy did not explain how he had switched from the miners' organization to a company of operators, but he showed his long familiarity with the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek mines which had been the center of another Senatorial investigation years before.

And he had no remedy to offer for the killings and conflicts as prevalent in 1913 as in 1921.

"If the operators will not employ men that belong to the unions and the unions will not permit men to work who do not belong to the unions," Kenyon inquired of him, "and as a result the country's coal supply is diminished, where does the third party, the public, come in?"

"That is up to them to solve," responded Kennedy.

Kenyon bent forward as though not sure that he had heard the witness right.

"It is up to the public to solve?" Kenyon asked.

"Yes," Kennedy answered.

"And you have no solution to offer?" Kenyon pursued.

"I do not think I have," Kennedy responded.

"But where does Congress come in on the great third party to all these troubles," Kenyon persisted, "the public?"

"That is a big question," Kennedy parried.

"That is why I am asking you the question," Kenyon replied. "It is the one thing that has not been answered."

"The forces on one side say: 'We have a right to organize,'" Kennedy said. "The other side says: 'You haven't a right to organize,' and that is where you get your conflict, your question of where the rights of one being and the rights of the other stop."

Kenyon shook his head sadly.

"Years ago, when we investigated the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek disorders, the same question remained unanswered," he said.

And his report to the Senate in January, 1914, was recalled:

"The basic cause is the private ownership of great public necessities, such as coal; this, coupled with human greed, incident to such ownership, has brought about the deplorable and un-American conditions in the West Virginia coal fields."

NONE THERE AT PRESENT
A member of one of the theatrical clubs tells of stranded, but still haughty leading man who was obliged to put up at a dilapidated country hotel. He glanced frowningly about the office, reluctantly signed the register, and took the brass key from the proprietor.

"Is there any water in my room?" he demanded.

"There was," replied the proprietor, "but I had the roof fixed."

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep their locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

MEXICO CALLS FOR AMERICAN FLOUR TO SAVE LIVES

By LOUIS P. KIRBY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21.—Economists in Mexico are finding that experiments in protection call for as much caution as experiments in chemistry.

The latest experiment to fail was protection of the flour mills. The Government has now decided to remove the new import duty on flour, beginning October 1.

Millers, among whom are many influential men in Mexico, a few months ago appealed to the Government for relief, saying that because of the high price of wheat in Mexico they were unable to operate their mills at a profit and compete with the cheaper flour shipped here from foreign mills.

Accordingly, a decree was issued requiring importers to pay duty on shipments of flour. This proved satisfactory to millers and wheat growers, but was not so pleasing to bakers and consumers, especially as Mexico's crop shortage threatens high food prices this Fall and Winter. Conviction that Mexico will need foreign flour—and from the bargain counter—this Winter, it is said, has caused the decision to remove the import duty.

Many other steps have been taken to prevent, if possible, distress during the coming Winter and to stimulate industry. One of these was the reduction of the export duty on henequin from six to two cents. This was in the hope of improving conditions in Yucatan and neighboring States, where there it at present great depression, due to stagnant industry and the agitation of radicals.

Face Oil Crisis
But the Government has refused to reduce the export tax on metals, and this has caused surprise, as hundreds of silver mines, which made efforts to resume operations during the past year, have been closing down because of alleged inability to meet expenses and pay the present taxes.

When the refusal of the Government was announced at the office of Secretary of the Treasury de la Huerfina, it was explained that both Germany and Russia were preparing to coin vast amounts of silver currency and that this gave assurance of an advance in the price of metal.

If the advance in silver comes and is large enough to stimulate active production on a large scale, it will be a great relief to Mexico, as thousands of miners are reported to be in idleness in the mining States.

Practical suspension of oil exportation has deprived the Mexican Government of an important source of revenue, and this revenue is badly needed. With the income from the oil fields, the Mexican Government has been able to do much to relieve conditions in many sections by carrying on public work. And it will be hard to continue this work without the returns from the oil fields and at the same time meet other expenses.

Tampico and its surrounding territory have also given employment to thousands who have been unable to get work in their own sections of Mexico, and if these thousands must scatter through the country it will increase local problems, which are already serious enough in many places. In addition to this, Mexico is not so far removed from its days of revolution that it need not feel uneasy about having a large element that is idle, discontented and needy.

Americans Vindicated
When oil companies first suspended shipments the cry was raised that it was unwarranted action by American oil producers to force terms from the Mexican Government, but now that Dutch, English and other foreign producers in the Vera Cruz fields are unable to ship it is admitted here that the shutdown was due to economic and not political causes.

Oil men here say that the big companies in the region of Tampico are showing their honesty of purpose by continuing development and drilling new wells in preparation for the time when it will be possible to resume shipments of oil on a large scale.

Complaint has been made here and in other cities that collections are being made for famine sufferers in Russia and other countries when Mexico has problems which will tax the intelligence and generosity of the nation, unless great changes take place between now and the coming Winter.

MODEL FOR FAITHFULNESS
The emaciated woman lay in a public hospital in London, and answered to the best of her meager ability the questions asked by the nurse, whose business it was to ascertain the history as well as the nature of the case: "Are you married?" "Not now I ain't."

"And did you ever have a husband?" "Ho, yuss!"

"Was he a kind husband?" "Kyind? Kyind? Why, he were that kyind he were more like a friend nor a husband!"

Nearly 300 of the young women who have graduated from Mount Holyoke College since its establishment have entered the foreign missionary field.

"Aunt Grace" Mothers 30,000,000 Children

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Ask Miss Grace Abbott, the new Government mother to some 30,000,000 American children, what is the crying need for the American child of to-day and you get an answer quick as a flash: "Education!"

Of course there are other things that are vitally needed to benefit the child life of America. But first and foremost stands education. After that comes hygiene, the abolition of child labor and kindred matters. Education will eradicate the other ills afflicting American child life. With education, hygiene will take care of itself, and with education there can be no child labor, because the evils of it are clear to the educated mind.

No idle dreamer is this new government mother to the children of America, who has taken over the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor. It is one of the biggest jobs a woman can hold in Washington, except perhaps in point of salary.

Radiates Efficiency
And Miss Abbott brings to it no lofty theories and idealistic notions about what can be done to better the child life of the nation. There is little of feminine fluffiness about her, either personally or the manner in which she has tackled her job. Rather she radiates efficiency—not the cold, steel-like efficiency of the machine, but the understanding sort of efficiency that bespeaks a love of her work and an unusual knowledge of human nature.

Miss Abbott brings into the Children's Bureau an experience gained in the School of Hard Knocks in welfare work. She was born in Nebraska thirty-odd years ago when Nebraska was mostly rural. She educated herself by dint of hard work and close application to business, which has left over so tiny a wrinkle between her snapping black eyes.

After graduating from a little college in Grand Island, Neb., she did post graduate work at the State university, and then went to Chicago, where she studied philanthropy at the University of Chicago.

The teeming slums and foreign quarters of Chicago fascinated her, and the years that followed her college work found her working hard to alleviate the conditions which she found all too prevalent in the Windy City. For some years she was director of the Chicago League for the Protection of Immigrants, an organization which many now prosperous Chicago business men remember gratefully.

Then Boston attracted her and she went to Massachusetts as executive secretary of the State Immigration Commission. Under her direction an exhaustive investigation report was made on immigration problems. Then Illinois reclaimed her and she went back to the scene of her early experiences as executive secretary of the State Immigration Commission created in Illinois.

To use her own expression, Miss Abbott "came up from the ranks" to her present position.

She learned early in her welfare work that to accomplish the most good welfare work must be started with children. So in 1917 she came to Washington as director of the Child Labor Division of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor.

Champion of Children
This division administered the first Federal child labor law, and Miss Abbott was, from the beginning, responsible for the formation and development of its policies.

Feeling that she ought to get into work more closely allied with the war, Miss Abbott transferred her abilities to the War Labor Policies Board and rendered able, efficient service until the war closed.

"And there's the story," she concluded.

That was not quite the end, for a few days ago President Harding selected her from a horde of applicants to head the Children's Bureau, in which she has labored so diligently as a divisional chief. The position pays $5,000 a year and is one of the most eagerly sought positions in Washington.

She has entered upon her new duties with a vigor and close application to duty that set a hard example for her associates.

It was a sweltering late September afternoon when the question was propounded to her of what is the crying need of the American child. Outside thousands of Government clerks were hurrying down the heat-waved streets, their day finished. But Miss Abbott stuck grimly to her desk, perspiring, it is true, but sticking. She keeps no union hours.

"Education is the keystone," she said simply. "That is our principal aim. You see, our funds and our personnel are too limited to do direct contact work, so we must content ourselves with preaching, teaching and instructing."

Curtailment Injuries
"You would be surprised at the number of letters we receive every month asking information on child welfare. Last month they were 8,000. Many of them came from mothers, many came from students. One thing in particular they want—a pamphlet on infant care."

"We comply to the best of our ability, but our resources are so scanty in comparison with the demand. We can only fill about half the requests we receive for literature and advice. The advice is easy, but the literature comes hard. Like all other departments in these days of economy we have to curtail our operations; particularly our printing bill, and it is hard not to be able to supply the demand."

"Last year we sent out 2,480,976 pamphlets. This year our printing allowance has been trimmed to $20,000 and many requests will have to be denied."

Miss Abbott is going to pay particular attention to the betterment of child life in the rural districts of America. She grew up in rural Nebraska and she knows some of the problems and the heartaches of young rural America.

"For years," she said, "we have heard so much about the terrors of child life in the slums and congested centers of cities. It's all true, but it is also true that conditions in some parts of our rural regions are just as bad."

"Children are kept out of school to help with the crops; they are kept out of school to tend stock; they are kept out of school to attend to the thousand and one things about a farm, and it isn't right. Children in the rural districts should have the advantages of school just as much as those in the cities."

She is undaunted by lack of funds and other resources necessary to the growth and expansion of the bureau.

"These are hard things," she said, smiling. "We will do the best we can."

TRYING PIDGIN ENGLISH
There was a prominent lawyer in San Francisco who prided himself on his astuteness in questioning Chinese witnesses. He was very near-sighted, however, and on one occasion got into difficulty through failing to notice that the dress of a certain Chinese witness was of finer texture than that worn by the ordinary coolie. The following dialogue ensued:

"What is your name?" "Sell Lung."

"Do you live in San Francisco?" "Yes."

"Do you savvy God?" "Mr. Attorney, if you mean to ask whether I comprehend the entity of our Creator, I will merely reply that next Thursday evening shall address the State Ministerial association upon 'The Divinity of Christ,' and I shall be pleased if you will attend."

To the day of his death the celebrated lawyer will never escape the question, "You savvy God?"

INSPECTION NEEDED
Mrs. Morningside (showing the em-bankment to Mrs. Struckoyle, of the States)—"That monument? Oh, that is Cleopatra's Needle. It came from Egypt, you know, and it literally covered with hieroglyphics."

Notices

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.
The copartnership heretofore existing under the name and style of MOORE & CHAMPLIN, in the City of Glendale, California, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons who are indebted to the undersigned are respectfully requested to come forward and make payment immediately.

Dated this 19th day of September, 1921, at Glendale, California.
HARRY MOORE,
E. M. CHAMPLIN.

ZELIE DAVENPORT, who has been making suits and gowns at 106 South Franklin Court, wishes to announce to her customers of Glendale and Los Angeles that she has transferred her establishment to larger quarters and will be open for business after September 22 at The Glendale Dry Goods Store, 115 East Broadway, in association with Maud E. Chamberlain, well-known modiste of Pasadena and Hollywood.

GLENDALE EXHIBITORS SHOW INTEREST AT FAIR

This City Well Represented in Sections of Poultry, Tractor, Child Welfare, Art, Photography, China Painting, Basketry, Horticulture, Foods and Cookery

American flags strung banner-wise across the main thoroughfares of San Fernando are advertising to the traveling public that a festival is in progress and many are turning aside to investigate the contents of the big brown tents that house the exhibits.

Tuesday was supposed to be Glendale Day although it was not so announced on the printed programs given out at official headquarters, nor was it so featured on the grounds. Nevertheless many Glendaleans made it a point to go, and the women's committees of Glendale loyally turned out and remained on the grounds until the closing hour at night.

Fair Scene

It is a typical fair ground and receives many pleasant memories in the breasts of hundreds of retired farmers who have come to California from Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and other States famed for their agricultural products.

The mid-afternoon hours of yesterday were rather quiet although there were plenty of sight-seers in the tent where the tractors are exhibited, around the poultry cages, in the stables where the cattle and horses are housed, in the art gallery, the women's building, and the child welfare tent, with groups thronging the side shows and special attractions. The hot dog barkers lost their pep and their persuasiveness but as evening approached and the noisy crowd of track patrons began to arrive, it all came back and they were soon in full cry.

Well Represented

Glendale visitors were glad to see that their city is well represented except in horse and beef cattle classes. The Jessup Dairy Company is among the exhibitors of dairy cows, and in the poultry tent T. S. Caldwell and B. M. Billings have quite extensive exhibits of Rhode Island Reds, while Dr. Irwin Rovee and Arthur W. Huskins have divided honors on many varieties of bantams that attract much attention.

The biggest space in the tractor tent and the exhibit that is the magnet of that department, is the allotment to the Cletrac, with Harry White of Glendale, in charge.

Welfare Tent

At the Child Welfare tent where Dr. Caroline Payne Jackson was yesterday assisted by members of her committee, and by Mrs. Ella Richardson, the registration of babies for examination up to 4 o'clock had totalled 63. Of these only three had been entered by Glendale mothers, viz. Mrs. F. H. Rittenhouse, Mrs. A. M. Aldredge, and Mrs. J. Simon. It is not a baby show. The children are examined by experts and judged according to a scale of points, all of which are recorded and embodied in a chart which each mother will receive Saturday. The examinations will continue throughout the week, and not a few of the visitors are childless women who welcome the chance to see such fine specimens of babyhood in all their naked beauty.

Art Section

The Art tent made Glendaleans swell with satisfaction because about fifty percent of the exhibits and those of the choicest were from this city. More than one was heard to remark, "It is about time we had an exhibit of the work of local artists in Glendale."

John Cotton, of Casa Verdugo, was represented by a lovely water color of a bridge in Brussels, doubtless a sketch which he made while abroad during and after the world war. The landscapes of F. Grason Sayre, of South Central avenue, were a revelation to many who saw them for the first time. He specializes in mountains in the pastel tints of late afternoon. They are unusual but none the less true and wonderful.

Mrs. S. V. Phillips, of South Everett street, shows three representative landscapes—"A Spring Day at Arcadia," "The Harbor at Nagasaki," and "Along the Highway at LaCrescenta." The Japanese marine is especially lovely.

Mr. McCluskey, of Verdugo Woodlands, is represented by four fine portraits of which it is hard to choose the best. Of outstanding interest is the portrait of a Russian Princess, but the head of a Spanish girl is a close second.

Mrs. Harriet Frank, of 1558 East Wilson avenue, exhibits two beautiful examples of the work of her deceased husband, one a marine, the other a bit of Verdugo woodland.

Five beautiful canvases by Granville Redmond, one a sunset study of rare beauty, have been loaned by Mrs. Julia Nichols of East Elk avenue.

Miss Margaret Farlow, formerly of Glendale, is also represented by two studies which attract attention.

Photographs Shown

The photographic exhibits of studies by Edward Weston and Ralph Brown, both of Glendale, and both exhibitors in London salons as well as in the United States, were the theme of admiring comment as was also the work of Edward Elias, of East Cypress street.

There were a few examples of fine modelling by Sarah Smith of Los Angeles, and some fascinating collections of china painting.

Mrs. Evelyn Labadie of Cedar and Broadway, has loaned a most interesting collection of Alaskan baskets. All in all Glendale has done her full share in making a worthy art exhibit. Glendale hostesses in the art department to assist Mrs. Ella Richardson, general chairman, on Glendale Day were, Mrs. S. V. Phillips, Mrs. Edward B. Elias, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. Evelyn Labadie, Mrs. G. D. Mason, and Miss June Hurlbert.

Floral Surprise

After resigning herself to disappointment because of the apathy exhibited by Glendale's home-growers of flowers, the chairman, Mrs. C. H. Houston was agreeably surprised to have exhibits come in with a rush Monday morning which put our city creditably on the map, and secured prizes for choice dahlias and other autumn flowers.

Mrs. H. D. Thaxter of Diverdale drive had a wonderful exhibit of dahlias that was easily the outstanding attraction of the entire floral display in the Women's department. Specimens of a variety called "The Millionaire," the only samples on the grounds, measured ten inches across and were the talk of the grounds. Mrs. J. Guidinger of West Doran street also had a very nice exhibit of dahlias. Mrs. W. E. Bonaghan of North Louise made beautiful showings of assorted flowers. Mrs. Houston's committee, consisting of Mesdames J. M. Selleck, Bert Ward, Ralph Meeker, Wayne Varick, and H. D. Thaxter, were present to act as hostesses at the booth yesterday.

The list of exhibitors of Glendale flowers included Mrs. H. D. Thaxter, Mrs. J. G. Monaghan, Mrs. J. H. Braly, Mrs. E. B. Wyman, Mrs. C. H. Toll, Mrs. J. Guidinger, and Mrs. F. A. Buchanan. Besides the "Millionaire" dahlia, Mrs. Thaxter showed the "Jessie Seal," "Catherine Cooper" and "Gladys Sherwood" all beautiful and new. Mrs. Guidinger's collection included "Countess of Lonsdale," "Abalone," and "Niebelungenhost."

Needlework Shown

The needlework display was also a joy to all who have any critical knowledge of art in that form and there were many to enjoy it yesterday. Not all the exhibits offered could find a place because of the congestion. Miss Eva Daniels, chairman of the Glendale Needlework committee was present with all her committee members to act as hostesses. Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, Dr. Jessie Russell, Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, Mrs. E. S. McKee, Mrs. A. S. Chase, Mrs. C. Phillips, Mrs. W. W. Worley, Mrs. J. I. Wernette, and Mrs. Margaret Biggs.

Glendale Foods

The concession booth of the Tuesday Afternoon Club is rather fortunately placed near the art pavilion and it has the reputation of serving the best food and best coffee dispensed on the grounds. As Mrs. A. H. Montgomery and Mrs. Hollingsworth, the chairmen, together with their assistants all wear conspicuous Glendale badges, our city is winning honors in the culinary line. So well is the concession patronized that Mrs. Montgomery has hard work to keep sufficient supplies on hand and is calling for home-made pies, cakes, doughnuts, etc., from Tuesday Afternoon club members.

The horse show programs are the big evening attractions and events tonight will be:

- 1—(2) Hunters, light weight, 8:00 p. m.
- 2—(10) Saddle, five gaited mares, 8:15 p. m.
- 3—(21) Heavy harness, ladies, 8:30 p. m.
- 4—(18) Saddle, three gaited, over 15 to open, 8:45 p. m.
- 5—(30) Polo ponies, heavy weight, 9:00 p. m.
- 6—(48) Trotters to sulky, 9:15 p. m.
- 7—(47) Musical chairs, ladies, 9:30 p. m.
- 8—(57) Saddle, owners up, 10 p. m.
- 10—Free for all trot, 1 mile under saddle post entries, 10:15 p. m.

Town Topics

REICHENBACHS MOVE

Reichenbach & Son furniture dealers, have moved to their new home at 421 West Los Feliz road. Mr. Reichenbach is a great booster for Glendale and predicts great things for the city.

HAS DISPLAY

The Blossom (Bee Honey Co. of South Glendale is maintaining an attractive display of its products at the San Fernando Valley Fair this week.

Gathered About Town

Edward C. Smith of 219 South Brand is a chemist of long experience, but he did not inherit his talent for that line of business from his father. The elder Smith was a tea and coffee taster of long experience and no one could fool him on the quality of either of these. He was thoroughly conversant with every grade of coffee, where ever grown, and knew every country and section where the berry was cultivated.

Contrary to the general belief, Mocha is not the finest and most expensive coffee in the world, according to Mr. Smith. The best, he says, grows in the very interior of Persia, in small gardens, and is tended with the greatest of care. The raiser picks, dries and sorts the berries, then puts them up in sacks of 75 to 100 pounds weight. He takes a sack of two on his faithful lead mule or his own shoulder to the market, sometimes 200 miles distant. He does not get more than 25 cents a pound for it, probably, but by the time it reaches the retail market the price has reached $3 a pound. But the connoisseur who is able to search it out and buy it is never again satisfied with inferior grades, said Mr. Smith.

All residents of Glendale admire Burbank's spirit of push, and rejoice in her remarkable growth. They have not a particle of envy for her great industrial supremacy and the number of manufacturing enterprises she has secured. But in her wealth of factories she ought to be satisfied and not reach out to claim those that are outside her limits, or even in Glendale. In newspaper advertising and booklets, Burbank claims the Compression Inner Tube Co.'s factory, which is really nearer Glendale than Burbank, but wholly in the county, and even appropriates Fred Menefee's window shade factory, which is entirely in Glendale, 150 feet this side of the line. Even the Glendale-Davis Co.'s mammoth greenhouses, far inside the Glendale limits, have been claimed by our ambitious neighbor.

T. L. Totman, the genial manager of Chaney's Grocery No. 30 on 115 North Brand, was heard yesterday explaining a little get-rich-quick scheme of his to a customer.

"You see," he said, "these bees sucking the sweets from this heap of jelly beans? Well, you notice the jelly beans are priced at 15 cents a pound. The bees make rich honey for me from the sweets they extract from the candy, and I sell the honey at 50 cents a quart. The jelly beans are not damaged in the least by the small amount of sweetness extracted from each, and I can still sell them for the regular price. So, I make money on them coming and going."

A. G. Smith and wife have occupied four homes in Glendale in less than a month. They moved from 212 West Lomita avenue on September 1, to a new house, just completed, on East Maple near Everett. A newcomer saw and admired it, then insisted on buying it. So the Smiths moved into another of the eleven new homes they have recently completed on Maple and Chestnut streets, all in the same vicinity, but that, too, was taken from them by an insistent buyer, so they moved into still another where they hope to be allowed to stay a week or so. Their present address is 833 East Chestnut street.

Personals

Mrs. Harry McPherson of 607 North Central avenue entertained the Glen Eyrie Chapter of the Eastern Star at luncheon today. She was assisted by three other hostesses, Mrs. John Everson, Mrs. S. A. Pollock and Mrs. James Farrell.

The Alpha Omega class of the Central Christian church met last night at the home of Miss Gulla Darling, 108 South Everett street. The object of the meeting was to plan for a reception for the new members of the class. Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

Mrs. E. C. Frank and daughter, Miss Alice, 1558 East Wilson avenue, will leave the latter part of the week for Marietta Hot Springs, where they will spend about three weeks.

Judge Harry M. Miller, real estate agent at 114 East Broadway and justice of the peace at Burbank, has returned from a week's vacation at Balboa beach.

Miss Geneva Bagg, of Des Moines, Iowa, who is spending the winter with her cousin, Miss Ramona Ryan, 332 West Acacia avenue, was the guest Saturday and Sunday of Miss Breta Friedberg at the Bixel apartments in Los Angeles. They visited friends on the New Mexico at San Pedro, on Sunday.

C. M. Retts of 114 West Park avenue is starting an apartment house at Fifty-second and Moneta in Los Angeles. He is contracting for the work.

Miss Evelyn Ellison, who has been a patient at the Glendale Research hospital for several months, leaves tonight with her mother, Mrs. Hugh Ellison, and her sister, Miss Mildred, for Berkeley.

Mrs. J. M. Border, 217 North Louise street, had Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Peterson of Long Beach as guests Sunday. Mrs. W. H. Barlett and family of Pomona, were callers at the home of Mrs. J. M. Border of 217 North Louise street, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ashton, Mrs. L. W. Bosserman and her house guest, Mrs. Morris, attended the San Fernando Valley fair on Monday.

Mrs. Schulte, 501 Burchett street, will entertain at an afternoon tea tomorrow. Her guests will be Mrs. E. K. Harris, Ja., Mrs. C. McClintock and Mrs. C. B. Guettard.

Miss Maude Hall, a kindergarten teacher from Los Angeles, spent the week-end at the home of Miss Alice Frank, 1558 East Wilson avenue.

Miss Margaret McOmber of San Francisco, is spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McOmber of 1530 East Broadway. Mrs. John Mahen of Los Angeles, formerly of Glendale, is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin of 246 North Central.

Real Estate Review

By PAUL VISSMAN

Fifteen permits to build, issued by the building department up to noon today, totalled $37,150, and increased the total for the month to $346,435, bringing the total for the year, to date, to $3,241,699.

Among the real estate dealers of Glendale there is one big question: "Where are we going to find sufficient houses to house the many newcomers to the city?"

The house shortage here is becoming acute. Dealers are besieged by people who are employed here and forced to live in Los Angeles because there are not sufficient houses to accommodate them.

One real estate dealer gave a conservative estimate of the demand for houses. He said that for every house that is vacated in Glendale there are at least five people waiting to rent it. That is a fair estimate of the demand for houses and is based on this real estate man's experience during the past year.

People who are making a daily round of the real estate offices in hope that a house will be listed for rent are more often disappointed. Any kind of house in any location is considered desirable at present, and furnished apartments are even harder to find.

If the owners of vacant property would build small houses or bungalow courts for rent they would be rendering the city a service as well as making an excellent investment.

Glendale has made wonderful growth recently, and all indications point to continued growth, but until there are more houses to rent this growth will necessarily be slow.

Glendale has the advantage over many cities of the same class in the matter of climate, and with sufficient houses to accommodate the people who are anxious to become prospective residents, Glendale could attain its goal of 50,000 in a short time.

PEERLESS HOME CO. BEGINS OPERATIONS

Ground is being broken today in the tract owned by the Peerless Home Builders, 212 South Brand boulevard, for a house at 701 South Adams, in the new subdivision recently opened and being improved by this company.

This is the third house to be started in the tract and tomorrow work will start on the fourth.

The house at 701 South Adams is being built for Theo. Fleischman, a member of the Peerless Home Builders co., and he will move in as soon as it is completed. The house to be started tomorrow will be for sale. The approximate cost of each house will be $4,000.

Each house will be a modern five-room bungalow and will have several new built-in features that are the original designs of the Peerless Home Builders.

In addition to the houses now under construction on the recently opened tract, the company will start work in a short time on a modern five-room home in the 1100 block on North Brand, for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cameron of Los Angeles. This house will cost $5000 and will be modern in every respect.

Another four-room bungalow on the tract owned by the company is contemplated for the near future.

MRS. BRUMMELL HAS ENTERTAINING TEA

Mrs. William Brummell of 341 Patterson avenue entertained yesterday afternoon at a silver tea and card party.

The house was attractively decorated in roses and dahits from her beautiful flower garden.

As the guests entered the door they were given a number and during the afternoon a prize was awarded for the lucky number.

Whist and five hundred were played. The first prize for high score at whist was won by Mrs. Brummell of Los Angeles, and was a hand-painted plate. She was also awarded the door prize, a box of colored stationery. Mrs. T. W. Long won the first prize for five hundred and a large cake, for which chances had been sold. The prize for five hundred was another hand-painted plate.

During the course of the afternoon, dainty refreshments of cake, coffee and punch were served. The tea was given for the benefit of the children's booth at the Catholic bazaar, to be held October 6, 7 and 8. A sum of $26.75 was realized.

GIRL SCOUTS MEET

Glendale Girl Scouts met for the first time in the Congregational Church, parlors yesterday afternoon, and will probably make it their meeting place for some time to come.

Twenty-six members of the troop were present and plans for the coming year were discussed.

Miss Dorothy Potter, a candidate for membership, was present. There is room in the troop for but three more and the applicants exceed the vacancies. Miss Gladys Sharpe, Scout mistress, hopes that another troop will be organized, but it has not yet materialized.

The next meeting will be held two weeks hence in the same place.

A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

The country clergyman being anxious to raise some money for the purpose of restoring an arch in his church, commissioned the local sign painter to paint an appropriate notice. The next day he was horrified to observe emblazoned in bright red the following: "Contributions for the arch fund earnestly solicited."

MEDALS DROWN HIM

The fair bather approaching the old salt questioned him as to the fate of the young guard who had won so many medals for life saving. "Well," he replied, "one day when off duty he fell into the water, and the weight of his medals carried him down."

Thursday Is Get Acquainted Day

Thursday, September 22, will be "Get Acquainted Day" at the First Savings Bank. From 9 in the morning till 9 at night our quarters at 104 East Broadway will be open for your inspection and our officers will be ready to greet you and show you about our banking home.

You will find a cordial welcome awaiting you. Our Stockholders, Directors and Officers are all Glendale men, and you will enjoy the friendly atmosphere at this Bank, which is distinctly a Glendale institution.

4% Interest

A Term Savings Account, which may be opened with any sum from $1.00 up, will pay you 4 per cent interest, payable semi-annually. Such an account is an ideal investment for the small, regular saver and for the man who desires to place his funds where safety of principal and regularity of interest is assured.

Safe Deposit Vault

A modern steel and concrete Safe Deposit Vault with an eleven-ton steel door is a feature of our banking room. You will be interested in seeing the mammoth door and up-to-date burglar alarm equipment which guards your valuables when placed in our safe deposit boxes. Roomy, convenient, private booths for the inspection of your papers makes this department one of the most complete in Southern California.

Escrow and Collections

Our Escrow and Collection Departments are in charge of careful, courteous employees, and you will receive here the same efficient personal service which characterizes all departments of this Bank.

Everyone opening a Savings Account of $1.00 or more on Thursday will receive a handsome leather memorandum book with the owner's name stamped in gold on the cover. There will be a pocket size for the men and a size to fit the purse for the ladies, and this little book will prove a useful souvenir for the first depositors at the First Savings Bank. Remember—Thursday, September 22, is "Get Acquainted Day."
